One grows weary and sometimes a little disgusted with this everlasting exhibition of the evil side of "society. One grows weary, very weary, with these moralizers who, in the language . of another of Mrs Wilde's characters. "know the price of everything and the value of nething."

Mr. Wilde's Lady Windermere's Fan is interesting as a study of comparative social anatomy. The characters depicted certainly exist as any man of experence knows, but they compose but a small part of the social world; and it is an evil of large dimensions to cultivate the idea either in church or society. that men of "society," may grow old but they never grow good, because it leads the young, and particularly the young men, to form an idea that one to be brilliant must be bad, and that good and goose are words indeparably allied,

This matter of the Governor's administration is what General Hancock, not so incorrectly, called a local issue. The evils of the recent Democratic rule have affected every citizen of this town, and we have heard stanch Republicans of Bloomfield say, that if Governor Werts | 7 only keeps on as he has begun, he shall have their votes whenever asked for

For the Firemen's Relief Fund. Chief Engineer T. Howell Johnson received the following letter on Monday from the Broad of Trustees of the West minister Presbyterian Church

7. HOWELL JOHNSON, Chief Engineer the Fire Department. DEAR SIR : In recognition of the ser vices rendered by the firemen at the burning of Westminster Chapel on Jan uary 22, 1893, whereby the fire was confined to the chapel without injuring the church and other adjoining property the Westminster congregation desire you to accept the enclosed contribution of one hundred dollars to the Firemen's Relief Fund. Yours sincerely. L. R. BARRETT, Treasurer.

The Chief turned the check over to the Treasurer of the Firemen's Relief Association. Fell with a Crash.

The chimney in the rains of the Westminster Chapel fell with a crash on Friday evening of last week. The residents near by were greatly startled by on February 28th.
